As trading communities look for improved ways to exchange information, they seek to capitalize on efficient, real-time, reliable and secure technologies for data transport. That's why Applicability Statement 2 (AS2) has emerged as an industry-endorsed protocol, especially for the retail industry.

With the security and reliability of AS2 comes numerous complexities that can become barriers to economical operations if not managed resourcefully. If you are struggling to efficiently manage an AS2 program or find a way to comply with an AS2 mandate, you are not alone. That's why we designed and implemented Managed AS2 Services that give you access to the technology, people, and processes required to overcome barriers such as:

- Administering the digital certificate process
- Deploying certified software
- Integrating AS2 within the existing infrastructure
- Maintaining additional points of integration day-to-day
- Managing all the trading partner connections
- Sourcing and retaining the right communications expertise

Whether your company is a large enterprise striving to concentrate on core competencies, a medium business aiming to improve trading partner relationships and streamline communications, or a smaller organization needing to quickly communicate with a trading partner through AS2, our Managed AS2 Services can help. By delegating your AS2 management to EasyLink, you employ us to simplify the on-boarding and implementation, host the infrastructure, and manage the operation.
